Manage Content from iOS Devices: Simply and Securely

Box® offers a secure, scalable content-sharing platform that both users and IT love and adopt. Box for iPad and iPhone empower mobile teams, enabling them to work from any device without compromising IT protocol.

Empower Your Mobile Workforce

Mobile devices in the workplace are driving the need for mobile content management, which can increase user productivity, enhance customer engagement, maximize collaboration and drive more effective business decision-making. Along with this newfound productivity, though, comes a pressing new demand: a robust, scalable and secure mobile strategy. Box delivers, empowering you to:

Enable End Users

- Anywhere access: Manage and access files anywhere, anytime, from any device
- Unified content view: Keep desktop, browser and mobile data in sync
- Cohesive collaboration: Online workspaces help centralize team content

Maintain IT Standards

- Security: Remote device management coupled with auto logout and locking
- Supportability: IT sanctions the use of specific mobile devices and apps
- Visibility: Insight into how content is managed and accessed in the organization, featuring centralized security, password/permission management and comprehensive auditing/reporting within the Box Admin Console

“ Our applied use of Box was truly the solution that allowed us to solidify the business case and to justify to corporate that the iPad was a device that would be used for business purposes. ”

Box iOS Apps and the New Business Use Case

New mobile devices and business technology are inspiring innovative ways for businesses to share, create and consume content.

Expedite Business with iOS Devices for Executives

Today, executive review and comment on content – anywhere, anytime, from any device – is a business necessity. Just ask Six Flags and Clear Channel, whose executives rely on Box to access the latest business content from their iOS devices, whether they’re in New York or New Zealand.

“I haven’t taken my laptop on the road since I started with Box. I run the entire company off my iPad.” Lance Locher, SVP, Clear Channel - Total Traffic Network

Enable Mobile Sales Teams with Critical – and Current – Content

It’s a business fact: Remote sales teams are constantly in need of the very latest product and pricing information. With Box and iOS devices, out-of-date data is a thing of the past. Just ask Taylormade and Bank of New York, who empower their field sales teams with Box and iPads. Specifically, teams at the home office push accurate information to remote sales teams, who can then share and present this information to prospects from wherever they are.

Turbocharge Field Engineers’ Productivity

Waiting on paper reports or constantly changing blueprints can inhibit even the best field engineers from doing their jobs quickly and effectively. But with Box, the most current content can be sent to and from the field in seconds, dramatically increasing accuracy and decreasing turnaround time. Two companies that are doing just that: Dole – the world’s largest producer and marketer of high-quality fresh fruits and vegetables – and Balfour Beatty, America’s sixth largest construction firm.

“In this firm, there’s been a huge move to a new mobile workforce. Having cloud-based, mobile access to our content has saved an immeasurable amount of time.” Greg Dasher, Integrated Projects Director, Balfour Beatty Construction
